The Alaska Division of Fire Prevention will train firefighters or other community members to provide Home Fire Safety Inspections to residents in fifteen communities throughout Alaska. This is a three phase project to ensure homes are safer after the Home Fire Safety Inspection process by educating residents about fire prevention steps and installing fire prevention and safety equipment in the home.

Pursuant to Section 51(b), Chapter 3, FSSLA 2005, page 130, lines 6 - 9, $2 million in general funds are distributed to state agencies to offset the increased chargeback rates for statewide services as identified in the statewide federal cost allocation plan. Of the $2 million, $1,700,000 is allocated to offset increased telecommunications rates and $300,000 is to offset increased Division of Finance chargeback rates.

The amounts transferred to each department are as follows:
 Administration; $262.9
 Commerce, Community, and Economic Development; $28.6
 Corrections; $31.1
 Education and Early Development; $11.6
 Environmental Conservation; $37.7

New Building Plans Examiner

This request funds a new Plans Examiner position (12-#006) for Fire Prevention. Due to the increased number of construction projects around Alaska, a Deputy Fire Marshal I has been assigned to perform plan examinations at the expense of completing life safety inspections. This position will be dedicated to the plan review process. It will allow the Plan Review section to conduct more plan reviews, and be able to accept the responsibility for Americans with Disabilities (ADA) provisions of the state-adopted International Building Code. Adding the ADA requirements to plan reviews will increase the time required on each review by approximately 10-15 percent.

Adding this position will have a positive impact on meeting the division's end results. Conducting plan reviews on new construction ensures the building will be built in compliance with codes ensuring fire safety for the occupants. A properly constructed building will alert the occupants in the event of a fire, and protect the occupants from fire or provide a safe means of egress from the building. This results in reduction of loss of life due to fire.

A building that meets the codes will contain or suppress a fire until the arrival of a firefighting crew, thus minimizing property damage and reducing property loss due to fire. A properly constructed building that passes the plan inspection phase should ensure functioning systems such as kitchen hood and duct systems, automatic fire suppression systems, heating and electrical systems, resulting in reduced structure fires in the state.

Federal funding has been available for assistance to firefighters and for public education from the Federal Emergency Management Administration (FEMA) and from the Department of Homeland Security, Office of Domestic Preparedness. Fire Prevention Operations is requesting $500.0 in federal authority to allow for these funds to be applied for and spent in a timely manner.

These federal funds allow the division to intensify efforts to meet the targets of providing training and assistance to rural fire departments, as well as reduce loss of life due to fires by educating the public and high risk groups.

This project will create a Driving Under the Influence (DUI) enforcement team based in Fairbanks. The team will consist of three state trooper positions funded from a Alaska Highway Safety Office grant: one Sergeant (PCN 12-#012) and two State Troopers (PCN 12-#013 and 12-#014). The team will serve two purposes. They will provide DUI enforcement at events like the Arctic Man Race, Talkeetna Bluegrass Festival, Tanana Valley and Palmer State Fairs, and other events. Additionally, the troopers will offer concentrated DUI enforcement around the state in a manner that increases actual arrests and public awareness of the Alaska State Troopers' (AST) commitment to DUI eradication.
Troopers assigned to the DUI Enforcement Team will be provided specialized training in DUI enforcement and will use specially marked vehicles emblazoned with a DUI Enforcement Team logo. The use of those specially marked vehicles will alert citizens across the state to the presence of team members in their area. AST will also use the resources of the Department of Public Safety's public information office to generate media coverage of the DUI Enforcement Team.
One of AST's core services is to protect the lives of individuals traveling on the state's road system. Among the most obvious ways to accomplish that end result is to remove impaired drivers from the roads. The funding of this DUI enforcement team will be a significant step in this direction.

1004 Gen Fund		147.3
This increment will fund one new Court Service Officer (CSO) position in response to increased need for court security, prisoner transports, and process services in Anchorage (PCN 12-#001).
Prisoner transport is a core service provided by the Alaska State Troopers (AST). As judges have been added to the Anchorage court and as the overall number of defendants who require extradition from out of state to Alaska increases, significant stress has been placed on the Anchorage Judicial Service unit. The addition of a court service officer to that unit will mean that AST can continue to meet the expectations of judges and ensure that increasing numbers of prisoners are transported safely.
Requests by judges for additional courtroom security and associated process service needs have continued to expand throughout the years. In Anchorage, the biggest concern is the growing number of prisoner transports. In addition to increased process service, ex parte pickups, child pickups, and evictions, the number of prisoner transports in Anchorage continues to increase. The ratio of officers to prisoners has become a critical safety issue. The sixteen CSOs currently assigned to Anchorage average about 1,800 prisoner moves per year. This is the highest ratio of CSO to prisoners moved in the state.
During FY2005, a Veterans Court was added in Anchorage, as well as a new half-time magistrate. Additionally, the three and a half superior court judges assigned to criminal matters will be increased to four full time superior court judges. This will result in an increase in the number of trials for persons in custody, which will tax the current number of CSOs. Domestic violence hearings are also on the increase, resulting in more hours of security for these types of hearings. More aggressive efforts to pursue Child Support Enforcement Division (CSED) fraud cases as felonies will increase the number of extradition trips by CSOs accompanying prisoners from out-of-state.
For all of these reasons an increase of one Anchorage Court Service Officer position is included in the FY2007 Governor's budget request.

The consolidation of the Division of Alaska State Troopers and the Division of Fish and Wildlife Protection required revising the class specifications for the senior supervisory positions. Based on the changes in the organization and the resulting changes in scope and level of responsibility assigned to the position classes of Major, Captain, and Lieutenant, the Division of Personnel has implemented a one range increase in the salaries of these classes.
Recognition of the increased responsibilities of these managers supports the achievement of all the results to be delivered by the Alaska State Troopers RDU. These are the people responsible for allocating the division's limited resources in a manner that assures the targets are met.

Transfer PCN 12-1307 Building Maintenance Specialist from Rural Trooper Housing component to Administrative Services to correctly reflect organizational assignment. This position is the facilities manager for the Department of Public Safety, providing support to the housing program as well as leased and state-owned facilities, and reports to the Director of Administrative Services.

Currently the Department of Public Safety operates thirty-seven housing units across the state. Fifteen are state-owned and twenty-two are leased. In FY2006, partial year funds were appropriated for additional rural trooper housing units in Bethel, Emmonak, Unalakleet, Aniak, and McGrath. This increment requests full year funding for this phase of the troopers' long term rural trooper housing plan.
Due to the partial year funding provided and when bids were awarded, the location and number of the units actually leased in FY2006 differs somewhat from the original budget request. Twenty new units in Bethel are due to become available for occupancy in January 2006, and nine new units in Northway, Cooper Landing, Iliamna, Emmonak, Unalakleet, and McGrath will be leased in FY2006. (The housing project in Aniak that was planned for FY2006 has been delayed by one-year, with a public notice requesting letters of interest to build the units in Aniak published in November 2005.)
AST must be able to transfer state troopers to rural areas of the state, often on short notice. Troopers and their families must have habitable housing in rural locations where traditional rental markets are often limited or non-existent. Affordable, quality, state-provided housing is essential for recruitment and retention of state troopers in rural Alaska.

Phase II of the rural trooper housing plan will provide additional housing units in Dutch Harbor, King Salmon, Dillingham, and Aniak (deferred from FY2006). Phase I allowed the department to open new trooper posts in Emmonak and Unalakleet improving public safety services in rural Alaska. Continuation of the rural trooper housing program is critical to AST's effectiveness. While Phase I has met the most urgent housing needs, Phase II will support AST's goals of providing safe, habitable housing for troopers in rural communities. Public safety will be enhanced as well as recruitment and retention by having housing in rural trooper posts.

In federal fiscal year 2005, Congress passed legislation implementing the Edward J. Byrne Memorial Justice Assistance Grant (JAG) Program. JAG replaced the Byrne Formula (Byrne) and Local Law Enforcement Block Grant Programs. Federal funding appropriated for JAG was significantly less than the Byrne funding in FFY2004. It is anticipated that the reduction in JAG funds for FFY2006 will be less than what was appropriated in FFY2005, therefore, the Department of Public Safety is requesting general funds to allow for the continuation of drug enforcement in Alaska.
The mission of the Alaska Bureau of Alcohol and Drug Enforcement (ABADE) is to provide statewide drug enforcement and to interdict the flow of alcohol into communities that have elected to restrict or prohibit possession, importation, bartering or manufacture of alcohol. ABADE meets these objectives through the efforts of investigators located in communities from Anchorage to Fairbanks, and from Bethel to Kotzebue. Investigative positions will be reduced in the event that the shortfall in federal funding is not replaced by general funds. The consequent results for rural Alaska, in terms of increased number of alcohol related crimes, are grave. Furthermore, drug enforcement results across the state would similarly be impacted. This would be particularly bad insofar as ABADE has recently re-constituted the Major Offenders Unit, which targets the most significant criminal drug importers and manufacturers. In this era of increasing methamphetamine production in-state, with its gruesome impacts on young adults and children, ABADE needs to continue to focus on identifying and arresting those responsible.

This funding will be granted to municipal police agencies to offset the impact of reductions to federally funded drug enforcement efforts over the past two fiscal years.
In federal fiscal year 2005, Congress passed legislation implementing the Edward J. Byrne Memorial Justice Assistance Grant (JAG) Program. JAG replaced the Byrne Formula (Byrne) and Local Law Enforcement Block Grant Programs. Federal funding for both state and local drug enforcement efforts has been significantly reduced over the past two years. FFY2005 Federal funding appropriated for JAG was significantly less than the Byrne funding the year before, and those funds were reduced even further in FFY2006 federal legislation passed in November, 2005.
Enforcement of criminal activities both directly and indirectly related to drug trade are key elements to the mission of both the Alaska State Troopers and local police departments. It is essential that both state and local police agencies have adequate resources to target criminal drug importers and manufacturers. In this era of increasing methamphetamine production in-state, with its gruesome impacts on young adults and children, all law enforcement agencies need to continue partnering to focus on identifying and arresting those responsible.
Communities anticipated to receive grants from this funding are Anchorage, Bethel, Fairbanks, Hooper Bay, Kotzebue, Palmer, Sitka, Soldotna, Unalaska, and Wasilla.

The Division of Alaska State Troopers' (AST) missions include the protection of lives and property, and the protection of the state's fish and wildlife resources. Full funding of the recruitment program will mean that AST will have more success in bridging the gap that has developed between the numbers of recruits accepted into the Academy and the rate of retirements and normal attrition. AST cannot meet its obligations to the citizens of the state without trained troopers to fill its ranks.
Current recruitment practices have failed to generate a sufficient applicant pool (over 15 qualified applicants) per cycle who make it through the initial selection and training process. AST competes head-to-head with many other law enforcement agencies in the state for a limited pool of qualified applicants. Innovative recruiting techniques need to be developed and implemented. The funds provided in FY2006 are being used for revisions to the AST recruitment website, media advertising, expanded promotional campaigns, and face-to-face recruiting efforts in rural communities and out-of-state.
This increment will fully fund the enhanced trooper and VPSO recruiting efforts that was requested in FY2006. FY2007 funding will cover media advertising, recruitment incentives, and the development and implementation of a written test program for new recruits.

This increment funds increased costs for State Trooper offices in Anchor Point, Matanuska-Susitna Borough (just north of Wasilla), Glennallen, and Ketchikan.
Anchor Point Post: In FY2006, the Department of Public Safety relocated state troopers from Homer to Anchor Point to be more centrally located in that area of the Kenai Peninsula, with significantly improved office space.
Western Mat-Su Valley Post: The department plans to close the current Big Lake post and consolidate those troopers and some from the overcrowded Palmer post into a new Western Mat-Su valley post. This will increase state trooper presence and improve response time in an area needing high-visibility trooper presence. The FY2006 budget included $100.0 for this office, but the amount of the actual lease is now expected to be about $250.0. Closing the Big Lake office will save approximately $20.0.
Glennallen Post: AST will move into new offices in the second half of FY2006 following a multi-year procurement process with no initial bidders. The new office will be in downtown Glennallen and will cost significantly more than the existing lease.
The new Ketchikan facility is now fully operational, but utility and maintenance costs are higher than in the past due to both higher utility prices and additional office space.

number of judges, courtrooms, and cases have significantly increased over the past five years.
Prisoner transport is a core service provided by the Alaska State Troopers (AST). As judges have been added and as the overall number of domestic violence protective orders and related writs have increased, significant stress has been placed on the Judicial Services units in these locations. The addition of one court service officer to each location will mean that AST can continue to meet the expectations of judges and ensure that increasing numbers of prisoners are transported safely, and that civil process continues to be served in a timely manner.
During the last fiscal year, the Palmer court has added one magistrate and two district court judges. An additional Court Service Officer position is needed to attend hearings and to facilitate the transportation of defendants to the hearings. The first quarter of FY2006 indicates that total writs received will increase 9 or 10 percent over FY2005.
During FY2005, one superior court judge and one magistrate were added to the Fairbanks court. Early numbers from the first quarter of FY2006 indicate that the number of writs received will increase 5 to 7 percent this fiscal year, resulting in many more hours being spent serving these writs.
During FY2005, a therapeutic court was added to the Juneau court. The first quarter of FY2006 indicates a rise in number of transports over FY2005 of between 5 and 7 percent.
During FY2005, one district court judge was added to the Kenai court resulting in an increase of in-custody transports. The early numbers from the first quarter of FY2006 indicate a rise in transports that may rise above 15 percent over FY2005. The Soldotna Judicial Services unit is also traveling to Homer and Seward at least one day per month for transports, trials, and writ service.

The Alaska Bureau of Alcohol and Drug Enforcement component will not realize the full amount of inter-agency receipts that were included in the budget for tobacco tax enforcement as the Department of Revenue is primarily using its own investigators.
Inter-agency receipt authority is needed in the Alaska Bureau of Wildlife Enforcement as a result of a contractual agreement with the Department of Fish and Game for the enforcement of rationalized crab fisheries. DPS will monitor the offloads of crab at processing plants, patrol the grounds and conduct inspections of gear, monitor the grounds by aircraft to insure the crab fleet is fishing in open waters, monitor docksides to insure that only legal crab is transported to processing plants, and monitor fish ticket information to insure there is no quota share fraud. This RSA will reimburse DPS for use of state aircraft and vessels to perform this enforcement.

This change record budgets funding for Sergeant, Administrative Clerk, and six Public Safety Technician II positions established in FY2006 Management Plan to perform IFQ dockside inspections throughout Alaska. These positions will accomplish a minimum of 750 IFQ dockside and facility inspections each year in the assigned communities, as well as crab dockside inspections.

This funding is from a federally funded capital project where the National Marine Fisheries Service provides federal funds to the Department of Public Safety for joint law enforcement efforts. The Alaska Bureau of Wildlife Enforcement's mission is to protect the state's fish and wildlife resources. The addition of positions related to the dockside inspection program is critical in providing consistent, effective law enforcement of commercial fisheries, especially as fisheries are transitioning from derby style to Individual Fishery Quota (IFQ) based systems.

The premium costs for liability insurance for the Village Public Safety Officer program increased in FY2006 and are not expected to decrease. This adjustment transfers funding to cover these increased costs.

This additional funding will be combined with $200.0 of existing funding to increase base pay for Village Public Safety Officers and to establish a retention bonus program based on time in service. This will help to attract and retain VPSOs, improving the effectiveness of public safety in rural villages.
VPSO recruitment and turnover continues to be a challenge. For VPSO's, one factor has been a historically low rate of pay. Although their pay has increased somewhat with the addition of additional duties, the salary levels still are not adequate to help attract and retain personnel. Increasing the base salary levels will help to address this issue.
The VPSO program has suffered from high turnover since inception. The expectations of a VPSO have changed over time and become more demanding. As a result, fewer village residents are willing to serve as a VPSO which then requires the seeking of applicants elsewhere. It has proven difficult to recruit qualified applicants from urban areas to serve in villages. Implementing a retention bonus system based on length of service as a VPSO will help to reduce turnover rates.

This increment will allow the Alaska Police Standards Council (APSC) to assist smaller police departments with small stipends to help pay for specialized, recurring police training they cannot afford to come to in the larger areas. This will allow their officers to obtain important training and assist their communities more efficiently and professionally. Funds will also be used to conduct more classes in the hub communities where surrounding neighboring departments come together to receive the training. Examples of the types of specialized training provided include dispatch training, interview and interrogation, crime scene investigation, leadership, accident reconstruction, and radar instructor training.
These funds come from required surcharges to citations issued by law enforcement agencies across the state.

The consolidation of the Division of Alaska State Troopers and the Division of Fish and Wildlife Protection required revising the class specifications for the senior supervisory positions. Based on the changes in the organization and the resulting changes in scope and level of responsibility assigned to the position classes of Major, Captain, and Lieutenant, the Division of Personnel has implemented a one range increase in the salaries of these classes.
Recognition of the increased responsibilities of these managers supports the achievement of all the results to be delivered by the Alaska State Troopers RDU. These are the people responsible for allocating the division's limited resources in a manner that assures the targets are met.

The Civil Air Patrol (CAP) is requesting additional funding for ongoing operational cost increases. CAP operational costs are for hangar utilities and maintenance, aircraft maintenance, and program administration. This 9 percent increase will be the first additional funding for the CAP operations since FY1994.
The Alaska Wing, Civil Air Patrol is a 501(C) (3) nonprofit auxiliary of the U. S. Air Force. The CAP provides airplanes, pilots, and support in search and rescue efforts, aerospace education, and cadet programs.
The CAP has kept their budget request constant up to this point but cannot keep the current services going without an increase. Without this additional funding they may have to cut winter heating for some of the outlying hangars, which would significantly reduce search and resuce operations during cold weather.

This request will allow the Alcoholic Beverage Control (ABC) Board to fund further development of a mission-critical licensing database. This project is critical for the ABC Board to accomplish their mission of licensing and inspecting establishments selling alcohol in Alaska, and enforcement of state laws governing this commerce.
The following tasks will be accomplished under this project by contracting with a software database programmer:
-improve financial accountability by better revenue tracking and reporting;
-provide consistent data in a single format;
-provide access to a single master data file for consistency in the unit;
-improve access to data for remote agency users;
-incorporate inspections and enforcement information into the existing database;
-migrate critical line of business applications to SQL;
-conform to statewide standards for Wide Area Network (WAN) access to databases; and
-improve data backups and management processes.
This request will complete a process that began in FY2005 to make improvements to the technology and software processes used by the board.

Key production and development systems, network infrastructure, web services, and external-facing systems are migrating to a managed hosted production environment provided by a local vendor in Anchorage. The Department of Administration's Enterprise Technology Services (ETS) hosts critical security systems in a similar fashion for the same reasons, and has a contract in place with a vendor who provides space, power, cooling, physical security, firewall, bandwidth, and servers.
Public Safety does not have, nor would it be cost effective to build and manage, a production facility to house the Alaska Public Safety Information Network (APSIN) servers. This funding will allow the Public Safety to move critical department systems to this same hosted environment, where department databases and APSIN systems would be physically located at the vendor's facility in Anchorage.
Power and network issues, as well as local area network (LAN) security issues, have had a noticeable impact on productivity in FY2005 and FY2006. Unless critical infrastructure is relocated, this impact will affect the entire law enforcement community as more APSIN functionality migrates to SQL Server. This hosted environment will support the department's mission by ensuring users have secure and reliable access to the department's network and criminal justice data.

This increment, combined with existing federal funds, will be used to establish two non-permanent criminal justice technician positions and fund a program to improve Alaska's criminal history information.
Records and Identification (R&I) has received funds under the National Criminal History Improvement Program (NCHIP). Currently, there is a backlog of requests to complete and correct missing criminal history data. Last year's annual report showed that the central repository has over 100,000 criminal charges over 2 years old without dispositions. In addition, statewide courts have notified the repository that due to staffing levels and workload, they are unable to continue providing copies of court judgments not sent through the normal process to the repository.
R&I will use funding provided by this increment and $134.5 of federal funds to hire two long-term criminal justice technician positions to focus on identifying missing criminal charge dispositions and update the state repository. The federal funds allotted to this project were not sufficient to fully fund the personal services costs, travel, and equipment costs projected for this project. This project is expected to last a year.
This request fully funds a long-term non-perm Criminal Justice Technician II (12-#016) position to travel to as many as 43 court locations, police departments, and Department of Corrections offices in Alaska to retrieve missing disposition information, in support of the unit's mission to provide complete, accurate, and timely criminal history record information to law enforcement agencies and the public. Some of these missing dispositions can affect individuals' rights to purchase firearms or obtain employment in certain fields.
This request also fully funds a long-term non-perm Criminal Justice Technician I (12-#015) position to research and correct the criminal history records in the state repository, and track all corrections made. Targeted records will be prioritized as follows: 1) records where an error is suspected, and where a pending decision requires the missing or corrected information; 2) felony charges without disposition if the individual has not already been determined ineligible to possess a firearm; 3) misdemeanor assault or other charges that may have involved domestic violence; and 4) other charges with missing dispositions less than 5 years old.

In federal fiscal year 2005, Congress passed legislation implementing the Edward J. Byrne Memorial Justice Assistance Grant (JAG) Program. JAG replaced the Byrne Formula (Byrne) and Local Law Enforcement Block Grant Programs. Federal funding appropriated for JAG was significantly less than the Byrne funding in FFY2004, and eliminated the mandatory 5 percent "set aside" for state criminal history records improvement. It is anticipated that the reduction in JAG funds for FFY2006 will be less than what was appropriated in FFY2005, therefore, the Department of Public Safety is requesting general funds for the continuation of the program.
The DPS Criminal Records and Identification Bureau (R&I) is the central repository for Alaska's criminal history records. State and national criminal justice agencies as well as employing and licensing agencies and the public use these records. Security, accuracy, and appropriate dissemination of information provided is essential.
Through the mandatory 5 percent set-aside for criminal justice records improvement, R&I has used Byrne funds since 1996 to fund 75 percent of two positions (PCNs 12-4215, Project Coordinator, and 12-4704, Criminal Justice Specialist). These positions are responsible for the statutorily-mandated auditing of records maintained in the Alaska Public Safety Information Network (APSIN) and the National Crime Information Center (NCIC). Other duties include management of the Quality Assurance Unit and training of over 3,000 APSIN users around Alaska.
Continued funding will enable R&I to provide its core services of timely, accurate, and complete criminal records; current information regarding outstanding warrants, stolen property, missing children, and protective orders; and compliance with state and national laws or policies regarding the sharing of sensitive and confidential criminal justice data.
These positions are essential to these core services. If these positions were not filled, the state would be out of compliance with state and federal law, and could face sanctions up to and including loss of access to national criminal justice files. Without this funding, R&I would fund the positions from vacancies or other line items, resulting in slower turnaround times for dissemination of sensitive data and decreased public safety for the state's individuals and programs requiring the information.

This position will be assigned support work to allow criminalists to concentrate on the more technical aspects of their jobs. Examples of these duties include:
- organize and send out convicted offender DNA samples to the contract laboratory for analysis to reduce a backlog in getting samples entered into the DNA database;
- provide technical support to the DNA section by doing basic laboratory and equipment maintenance, calibration, and test preparation;
- provide technical support to the breath alcohol section by preparing and shipping calibration standards to statewide law enforcement agencies;
- maintain the laboratory's chemical inventory and assist with ordering of supplies and consumables;
- provide backup for the evidence room in receiving, packaging, and shipping of evidence.
This position will assist the laboratory in meeting their target of increasing the convicted offender and DNA profiles entered into the DNA database each year.

Department of Public Safety is requesting general funds to allow for the continuation of the programs.
The State of Alaska Crime Laboratory has received federal Byrne funds via a Reimbursable Service Agreement (RSA) from the Alaska State Troopers since 1996 to fund 75 percent of a Latent Fingerprint Examiner position (PCN 12-1181). The first priority for this position is to process evidence from "rush" drug and violent crime cases received from law enforcement agencies around Alaska. This position also processes crime scenes for physical evidence, and trains officers in how to document, process, and collect physical evidence. This encourages submission of the highest possible quality of evidence to the laboratory for processing.
Continued funding for this position will enable the laboratory to meet its performance measure of improved utilization of forensic science to assist law enforcement with investigations around Alaska. This Latent Fingerprint Examiner position is directly involved with collection and processing of fingerprint evidence. If this request is not approved, this position would be funded from other vacancies or from other line items, further increasing the backlog of work and evidence processing from crime scenes.
