Project Description/Justification:

On October 12, 2006, the State of Alaska and the Municipality of Anchorage signed an agreement to work cooperatively to seek funding to develop and construct transportation projects and work towards a complete implementation of the Anchorage Long Range Transportation Plan (LRTP) through an initiative called Connect Anchorage. Connect Anchorage is a 10-year congestion relief program funded by federal, state and local sources that will focus on the congestion relief and capacity improvements that have been identified by the Anchorage LRTP, the Statewide Transportation Improvement Program and the Anchorage Metropolitan Transportation Solutions Transportation Improvement Program.

Past funding efforts by the state helped alleviate some of the congestion issues in Anchorage. The passage of the 2002 bond ballot in conjunction with State appropriations represent just over $30 million of state money per year invested into the Anchorage congestion problem. In addition, a programmatic approach with concurrent development of projects will result in a more predictable and efficient implementation instead of a project-by-project consecutive approach as has been done in the past.
