PRIORITY #10

Impact: Life, Health and Safety, Vital Infrastructure

Replacement of this facility will create a safer work environment for operators monitoring the City of Palmer's wastewater treatment plant (WWTP). The current and makeshift structure was built in 1972, with additions in 1978. It houses the lab, WWTP office, backup generator and treatment pond aeration blowers.

The City requests $250,000 in State grant funds to replace the existing WWTP lab and office building with a new structure. In addition, the City will use these State grant funds for new fixtures and equipment in the new building.

The City waste water treatment plant operators and utility foreman use this building for lab and office work. Deterioration of the present lab building could make it difficult to continue producing quality lab work. In addition to the construction of a new lab building, the project includes replacement of a single wall fuel tank with a double wall tank.

- Resolution No. 13-032

Summary statement:

Following the process adopted in 2010 for developing, considering, and approving capital projects to be submitted to the Alaska State Legislature for funding requests, the designated projects in Resolution 13-032 are proposed as part of the 2014 (SFY 2015) draft budget. The City has followed the process and schedule by conducting a project nomination procedure and holding a widely publicized Project Fair and city open house. City departments have provided details and preliminary cost estimates to the City Council. Refined cost estimates and more detailed narratives will be developed following Council action on the project list. Work continues at the staff level to provide more detailed analysis and description of projects.

Due to a conflict of interest situation involving one of the priority projects, this resolution represents a partial list that may be acted on by the entire city council. An additional and separate project with its priority placement and request for approval is addressed by Resolution no. 13-033 and IM 13-049.

Critical infrastructure projects impacting public health and safety have been given higher prioritization by leadership of this Administration. Projects which improve the quality of life and enhance economic prosperity of the City are prioritized to give the City of Palmer a strong basis for future growth.

Administration recommendation: Adopt resolution no. 13-032.
