Project Description/Justification:

The Inter-Island Ferry Authority (IFA) was formed in 1997 in recognition of the need for improved transportation to island communities in southern Southeast Alaska. The Prince of Wales Island communities of Craig, Klawock, Thorne Bay and Coffman Cove joined in a coalition with Wrangell and Petersburg to create the IFA, a public corporation organized under Alaska's Municipal Port Authority Act.

The motor vessel M/V Prince of Wales began daily scheduled service between Hollis-Ketchikan-Hollis in January 2002. The M/V Stikine is scheduled to begin service between Coffman Cove-Wrangell-Petersberg in the summer of 2003.

As with any new venture, the first few years of operation have presented cash-flow challenges and the IFA has requested minor assistance from the State. As the M/V Stikine begins service in the summer of 2003, the IFA's current cash-flow challenges should improve.
