Project Description/Justification:

Small business ownership is the direction in which Alaska's economy is moving. Self-employed people own 68 percent of all businesses in the state. However, individuals with disabilities are seldom provided with the option of owning their own businesses. As a result of the Trust funding for the Economic Development Alliance, a mechanism to train and support individuals with disabilities to own their businesses is in place. The Governor's Council on Disabilities and Special Education (Council) is currently working with the Center for Human Development to further develop and implement a supported self-employment model for beneficiaries who require ongoing support to run their businesses. The development of individual micro-enterprises is an integral part of the movement for self determination. The concept of employment must be challenged by individuals who experience multiple and severe disabilities and for whom the idea or possibility of holding a 'regular' job is often out of reach. This should not prevent a person from earning income. Through micro-enterprise development, it is possible for people to have income that offsets costs usually borne by public funds. More importantly for the individual, earning money gives a person a sense of worth and value.

Most of these potential businesses are extremely small with start-up costs of less than $10,000 and, as such, are seldom eligible for most grant and loan programs. These funds would be used to grant and/or loan funds to Trust beneficiaries or to service providers establishing small businesses to employ persons with disabilities. Funds will also be made available through the Job Creation Project to private enterprises interested in securing capital in exchange for hiring beneficiaries. This program has been piloted in Juneau and Kodiak and has proven very successful.

The Council will use these funds to leverage funds from State agencies such as the Department of Community and Economic Development and the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation.
