This request will provide funds to the Sport Fish RDU to match federal funds appropriated in FY03. The project will provide new and rehabilitated transient moorage facilities for recreational boats over 26 feet in length. The work will be accomplished by working cooperatively with local communities. In the FY03 CIP request, it was proposed that the local communities provide the match but they have not been able to do so. See Detail 2 under justification for more details.

Additional Information / Prior Funding History:

Support for boating access facilities contributes to the Sport Fish Division's outcome to sustain recreational fishing opportunities while optimizing social and economic benefits from these opportunities. Access projects directly address Strategy #5, to maintain access to public resources.

Project Description/Justification:

Sport fishing and recreational boating is more than just fun; it is also a significant factor in Alaska's economy. In 1993, an estimated $540 million was spent on sport fishing and recreational boating in Alaska. This spending directly accounted for 6,635 jobs and a total of $142 million in wages and salaries. These totals are undoubtedly significantly higher today given that the number of non-resident anglers participating in Alaska's sport fisheries has increased by more than 25% since 1993.
