Benefits if Project is Funded

Reading is a vital aspect in education, there is not one subject that does not required reading. All aspects of life revolve around the ability to not only read, but to be proficient in reading. It is one of the most important real life applications that a child can take with them throughout their lives. Without the skills of reading you are unable to follow the simplest instructions, fill out a job application, or function in an ever-changing word.
