Project Description

Principal's Priority

3

The Japanese Immersion program needs science books and teaching materials, as translated materials are not provided by the Anchorage School District with science kits. Teachers cannot translate books with permanent text as books are returned each cycle to the Science Center. This grant would provide money to purchase science content books for ASD science kits which would be translated and permanently kept with Japanese Immersion science kits in the building instead of returning them each year to the science center.

Benefits if Project is Funded

Teachers and students will have the district science books translated into the target language for the Japanese Immersion program at Sand Lake. Although this grant provides money for texts, teachers still need to translate the materials into Japanese.
