Major RDU Accomplishments in 2014

Protecting the Safety and Physical and Financial Well-being of Alaskans

- Child Protection. The Alaska Supreme Court resolved twenty-nine appeals in FY2014, issuing twelve published opinions, and seventeen unpublished decisions. The Court affirmed the Office of Children's Services' [in the Department of Health and Social Services (DHSS)] positions in 28 appeals and reversed in one, a 96% success rate.

- Collections. The Collections section streamlined its processes and increased efficiency enabling it to eliminate the backlog reported in previous years of unopened cases and very significantly decrease the backlog of undisbursed victim restitution payments. Its goal is to eliminate the backlog of undisbursed payments by the end of FY2015, with the continued assistance of its two long-term temporary positions.
- Child Support. The Child Support section caseload increased by 23% in FY2014. The section has thus far managed this increase without adding positions.
- Human Services. Handled at least 100 contested evidentiary hearings related to adult guardianships and conservatorships, mental commitments (including four jury trials), and Medicaid benefits.
- Human Services. Successfully advised and represented DHSS in sanction hearings related to Medicaid fraud in the home and community care waiver and personal care programs, resulting in closure of assisted living homes and stopping waiver providers and individual personal care attendants who had engaged in fraud from preying on vulnerable adults and children.
- Consumer Protection. Participated in settlement of six major multi-state and local consumer protection cases resulting in injunctive relief prohibiting conduct violating our consumer protection and antitrust statutes, restitution for consumers, and payment of almost $6 million to the state for costs, attorney's fees, and consumer protection enforcement and education.
- Consumer Protection. Processed 424 consumer complaints. Of those, 352 were resolved through the informal complaint process, launching of a formal investigation, or referral to other appropriate state and federal agencies. Resolution of the remaining complaints is ongoing.
- Consumer Protection. Enhanced the terms of the 2013 consent judgment governing cruise ship port shopping programs and used funds appropriated for investigative services to augment monitoring of the major port promotion companies' compliance with the consent judgment.
- Regulatory Affairs and Public Advocacy. The section's advocacy yielded approximately $4.4 million in quantifiable consumer benefits in FY2014. This quantification is based on refunds issued or the difference between the amounts requested by utilities in their respective revenue requirement proposals and the amounts ultimately awarded to them by the Regulatory Commission of Alaska (RCA).
- Environmental. Multiple efforts to address the sulfolane groundwater contamination in North Pole including suing two companies to determine ultimate liability for the refinery contamination, working to obtain agreement to fund a piped water system to serve properties with wells impacted by the sulfolane plume, and assisting the Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC) with its administrative review of the appropriate cleanup level.

Fostering the Conditions for Economic Opportunity and Responsible Development and Use of Alaska's Natural Resources

- Natural Resources. Successfully challenged a borough initiative limiting the development of large mines because it was inconsistent with and preempted by state law. An appeal is pending.
- Natural Resources. Advised the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) on issues related to the permitting and leasing of state land for wind power generation.
- Natural Resources. Intervened in a lawsuit challenging the Secretary of Interior's decision to deny a land exchange for the purpose of constructing a road between King Cove and Cold Bay, Alaska, through the Izembek National Wildlife Refuge. Continued to advise the state regarding other options for access through the refuge.

- Natural Resources. Intervened in a lawsuit seeking to enjoin the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) from issuing a veto under Section 404(c) of the Clean Water Act that would limit the potential to consider mining projects in southwest Alaska. The state asserts EPA lacks authority to consider a veto before the state and other federal agencies have an opportunity to review, reject, accept, or impose mitigation conditions on a specific project proposal.
- Natural Resources. Defended a Bureau of Indian Affairs regulation that prohibits the Secretary of Interior from accepting applications to take land into trust for tribes in Alaska, on the basis that Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act (ANCSA) prohibits the creation of new trust land. Appealed the adverse judgment of the D.C. District Court to the D.C. Circuit Court. Case is being briefed. Prepared comments on the Secretary of Interior's proposed rule removing the Alaska exception from the land-into-trust regulations.
- Natural Resources. Continued to pursue a quiet title action against the United States and 29 other defendants on six Revised Statutes (RS) 2477 rights-of-way near Chicken, Alaska, including filing an appeal with the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals from an unfavorable decision concerning access across Native allotments. Defended against efforts to block or limit access across other RS 2477 easements, including the historic Iditarod trail and the Klutina Lake Road.
- Natural Resources. Received a favorable Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals decision reinstating the Tongass exemption to the Roadless Rule. The Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals will reconsider its Tongass exemption decision in FY2015. Advised and represented the state on other issues involving the Tongass National Forest, including commenting on the proposed Tongass Land Management Plan, advising on an appeal by Greenpeace regarding the Big Thorne timber harvest, and successfully appealing the D.C. District Court's dismissal of the state's challenge to the validity of the Roadless Rule.
- Environmental. Working with multiple state agencies to analyze and prepare comments to EPA about its proposed far-reaching rule to reduce carbon dioxide (CO2) emissions from existing power plants.
- Transportation. Continued efforts to enforce statutory easements for roadways to resource-rich areas within the Tongass National Forest.

Protecting the Fiscal Integrity of the State

- Oil, Gas and Mining. Corporate Income Taxes - Represented the Department of Revenue (DOR) negotiating settlements of corporate income tax disputes, yielding a total of about $700,000 in additional taxes, penalties, and interest in FY2014. The section successfully defended in the Alaska Supreme Court DOR's assessment of an additional $13 million in corporate income taxes, interest, and penalties against Tesoro Corporation for tax years 1994-1998. The section received another favorable Alaska Supreme Court decision in a corporate income tax case brought by Schlumberger.
- Oil, Gas and Mining. North Slope Gas Pipeline - Continued legal support to develop a gas line to transport Alaska North Slope gas to markets in and out of Alaska. The known gas resource on Alaska's North Slope is huge but the potential gas resource on unexplored lands on the North Slope is much larger. Developing this resource is one of the most promising opportunities to strengthen and support Alaska's economic future.

Promoting and Defending Good Governance

- Labor and State Affairs. Advised the Office of the Lieutenant Governor regarding the certification of four ballot measures and a referendum; successfully defended litigation over the referendum.

Key RDU Challenges

Protecting the Safety and Physical and Financial Well-being of Alaskans

- Consumer Protection. Alaska is a target state for many types of consumer fraud. Under the authority of the Consumer Protection Act (AS 45.50.471 et seq.), the Commercial and Fair Business section investigates and brings enforcement action against businesses that engage in unfair or deceptive trade practices. The department has been able to increase enforcement activity because of additional statutory designated program receipt resources appropriated to this section. To help ensure receipt of statutory designated program receipt resources, the department needs to maintain participation in multi-state investigation and enforcement activities involving national companies that have committed unfair or deceptive practices impacting Alaskan consumers.

- Human Services. The advice and litigation continues to trend up with respect to licensing, Medicaid audits, and civil litigation for public benefits. A major theme of the litigation continues to be challenges under the due process clauses of the federal and state constitutions and DHSS's ability to meet statutory requirements related to notices. Additional workload increases relate to the implementation of the Affordable Care Act (ACA) and ongoing changes to the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA).
- Child Support. The primary challenge for the Child Support section is keeping pace with the increased legal referrals from the Child Support Services Division (CSSD) in the Department of Revenue (DOR). In FY2014, the section experienced a 23% jump in referrals. The section also continues to advise and represent CSSD on emerging, interrelated Indian law and child support issues, including federally funded IV-D tribal child support agencies within Alaska. The federal government has approved two tribal organizations to operate tribal child support agencies in Alaska.

Fostering the Conditions for Economic Opportunity and Responsible Development and Use of Natural Resources

- Labor and State Affairs. The Alaska Industrial Development and Export Authority (AIDEA) is increasing its involvement in numerous development projects statewide, including a proposed project to construct a liquefied natural gas (LNG) plant on the North Slope and a natural gas distribution system in interior Alaska. The LNG plant and gas distribution system are key components in a plan to truck LNG from the North Slope to supply energy to Interior Alaska residents. AIDEA is also negotiating with various Canadian mining ventures to expand the Skagway Ore Terminal. AIDEA will need assistance from the section's attorneys in negotiating, documenting, implementing and reviewing financing transactions and related contracts associated with the LNG project, the Skagway Ore Terminal expansion, and AIDEA's other investments and projects.
- Environmental Law. Working on multiple tracks to address the sulfolane groundwater contamination in North Pole including suing two companies to determine ultimate liability for the refinery contamination, working to obtain agreement to fund a piped water system to serve the properties with wells impacted by the sulfolane plume, and assisting the Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC) with its administrative review of the appropriate cleanup level.
- Natural Resources. Protecting the state's claim to title to navigable waters and the beds beneath navigable waters against the federal government and others, and its rights and obligations under the public trust doctrine. This includes challenges from private parties over the state's ownership of tidally influenced streams that the federal government failed to meander and over the public's right to use non-navigable waters for public trust purposes.
- Natural Resources. Protecting Alaska's sovereign right to manage fish and game on all lands in Alaska against federal encroachment will be a key challenge for the division.
- Natural Resources. Defending the state's interests from increasing restrictions under federal statutes and regulations continues to expand the section's caseload. Increasingly, it is the case that other states (particularly western states) share these concerns and so opportunities where the state can join forces with other states in terms of litigation or formal comments to federal agencies during the rule-making process are pursued with greater frequency.
- Natural Resources. Establishing strong legal precedent on RS 2477, a federal law that granted rights-of-way on public lands. Many of these trails are currently enjoyed by Alaskans. A key challenge is selecting routes with sufficient evidence to establish standards for width, location and maintenance, and to prove historic use.
- Natural Resources. Reviewing and commenting on new, ambitious federal land management plans. Multiple federal agencies are updating their planning documents and it will be a major challenge to stay on top of these efforts and comment effectively.

- Oil, Gas and Mining. Expending substantial efforts to monitor the TransAlaska Pipeline System (TAPS) tariffs as well as to monitor and participate, where appropriate, in state and federal regulatory oversight of the tariffs of all common carrier oil and gas pipelines operating in the state. This vigilance can earn the state millions of dollars in royalties and production taxes each year. Furthermore, as production of oil and gas from current developments declines in Alaska, the state's participation in tariff regulation is becoming more important in encouraging additional producers to invest in exploration of new areas in the state, by ensuring fair transportation rates and access to existing pipeline infrastructure for production from new fields.

Protecting the Fiscal Integrity of the State

- Oil, Gas and Mining. Ongoing cases involving disputes between TAPS shippers, TAPS carriers, and the state over the valuation of crude oil under the TAPS Quality Bank, which is a system for adjusting crude oil values to account for the different qualities of crude oil and refinery return streams that are commingled in the TAPS common stream. These cases concern decisions of the FERC and RCA and the section currently awaits action by FERC on remand from a decision of the United States Court of Appeals for the D.C. Circuit. The section provides legal support for and represents the Pipeline System Integrity Office (PSIO), which oversees the maintenance of facilities, equipment, and infrastructure for the sustained production and transportation of oil and natural gas resources in Alaska, in cooperation with other state and federal agencies.
- Oil, Gas and Mining. North Slope gas pipeline-related issues are a priority for this section, including providing legal support to assist in arrangements to construct a gasline to transport Alaska North Slope gas to markets in and out of Alaska. The known gas resource on Alaska's North Slope is huge but the potential gas resource on unexplored lands on the North Slope is much larger. Developing this resource is one of the most promising opportunities to strengthen and support Alaska's economic future. The section also continues to work closely with the Governor's Office as well as the Departments of Natural Resources (DNR) and DOR to provide legal assistance in terminating the Alaska Gasline Inducement Act (AGIA) license, and entering into new commercial agreements with TransCanada, AGDC and the three major North Slope producers to engage in preliminary front-end engineering and design work (Pre-FEED) for an LNG project. The section provides legal support for proposed commercial and financial arrangements, matters related to fiscal certainty, confidentiality issues and analysis on constitutional and other state law issues and federal permit and licensing issues.

Promoting and Defending Good Governance

- The department faces several key challenges concerning legal holds and discovery. One involves continuing to add civil cases and other matters to our electronic discovery system, Clearwell. Extremely large litigation matters may exceed the current capacity of the system and could require a hosted solution. More assistant attorneys general and paralegals will need to be trained on how to use Clearwell to search, review, redact, and mark records. Informing users within the department and from other state agencies on how electronic discovery works and the importance of legal holds and the logistics of how to implement them is another key challenge.

Significant Changes in Results to be Delivered in FY2016

No significant changes in the delivery of services are anticipated for FY2016.
