Brief Summary and Statement of Need:

This project allows the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) to accept funds from the private sector, and local governments and to pass funds through to US Geological Survey (USGS) and US Natural Resource Conservation Service (NRCS) as part of funding agreements for cooperative water resource programs. Industry and local government often request and pay for USGS and NRCS to install equipment to obtain hydrologic data. These data are needed for resource development and permitting projects such as mining, hydroelectric, or public water supply. If gaging funding is passed through a state agency, funds can be matched up to 100% by the federal government.

Project Description/Justification:

Funding for this program comes from state and local governments, native associations, and the private sector. No allocations of state general funds are included, only the authorization to receive and pass through funding from non-state sources. The project reflects the amount of authorization necessary to cover the total cost of the existing requests on record.

In many cases stream gaging is required under federal law for a development project: this program allows the funds used for gaging to be matched by the federal government, reducing the cost to the state, local government and the private sector. Because the gaging is done by a federal agency the program and funding must interface with the federal fiscal year.

The administration of pass through money requires a small portion of an existing administrative position whose time will be covered by a 5% administrative surcharge added to project billing; no new positions will be required. The USGS and NRCS requires a state partner for this program to continue in Alaska. The funds passed through to USGS and NRCS must be received and spent in the same federal fiscal year. The program requires no general funds now or in the future.

The Division of Mining, Land and Water has a longstanding and beneficial relationship with the USGS and NRCS. The continuation of this program benefits the state, local governments, native associations and the private sector by allowing them to participate with the state, USGS and NRCS with matching funds provided by the coop program. If the program is not approved the cost of gaging for existing or new projects where USGS and NRCS gaging is required, and the cost to developers will be much higher since the federal cooperative matching funds would not be available.

Accomplishments:

This program has included high visibility, large scale projects including:

- Teck-Cominco Red Dog Mine;
- Usibelli Coal Mine, Inc.;
- Teck Pogo, Inc.;
- Dorothy Creek Hydro, SE Alaska;
- Greens Creek Mining, SE Alaska;
- Falls Creek Hydro, Gustavus;
- Pebble Limited Partnership, Soule River, Hider;
- Southeast Power Agency.

Each of these projects accommodates multiple gaging stations. This program has the potential of saving developers and the state hundreds of thousands of dollars, at minimal to no cost to the State of Alaska
