Project Description/Justification:

This program provides funds to Alaska nonprofit service providers and housing developers to increase housing opportunities to Alaska Mental Health Trust Authority (AMHTA) beneficiaries and other special needs populations in Alaska through pre-development and development activities. These funds will continue to assist in developing community-based supportive housing in conjunction with the Homeless Assistance Program.

An analysis of six supportive housing properties funded through this program, several years ago, showed an average daily expense of $51 a day compared to $142 in prison and over $1,100 a day in API.

The demand for special needs housing remains critical. The AMHTA has made housing one of its five focus areas for funding. The Alaska Independent Living Council, and other special needs advocacy groups, has identified supportive housing as a top priority in their statewide planning efforts. The target populations consist of mental health beneficiaries and other special needs groups like severely emotionally disturbed children and the homeless.

To optimize leveraging of these funds with other federal grant and tax credit programs and to expedite the release of funding to nonprofit housing developers, AHFC administers these housing development funds in conjunction with other resources to the greatest extent possible. This enables AHFC to administratively streamline housing development projects, which also may intend to borrow money from AHFC.

Examples of special needs housing includes, but are not limited to:

- Congregate housing for people with mental illness or developmental disabilities;
- Supportive housing for victims of domestic violence;
- Supportive housing, including assisted living, for people with mental illness, developmental disabilities, or multiple disorders;
- Transitional housing with support services for newly recovering alcoholics and addicts; and
- Permanent or transitional housing support for the homeless and AMHTA beneficiaries.

The loss of these funds may increase expenditures by the state to house people who are inappropriately-housed in the Alaska Psychiatric Institute (API) or the correctional system. The cost of providing community-based care is significantly lower than institutional care. Another negative effect is the loss of leveraging opportunities with other federal grant programs.

The projected outcomes are to:

- Support the operations of 17 congregate housing properties for victims of domestic violence, people with mental illness or developmental disabilities, and chronically homeless Alaskans;
- Reduce recidivism among clients spending time in institutions;
- Provide supportive housing, including assisted living, for people with mental, physical, or developmental disabilities, or multiple disorders; and
- Provide transitional housing with support services for newly recovering alcoholics and addicts.
