The Chief of this division reached out to the court system to request that the Fairbanks court perform duties associated with applying for a marriage license, obtaining a marriage license, executing marriage licenses, and providing notary services as necessary. The court system is not required to perform this work, but has agreed to perform this work and the Division of Health Analytics and Vital Records has agreed to pay the cost for court clerks to perform these duties.

The Department of Administration has reached out to the Alaska Court System (ACS) inquiring about the possibility of the ACS taking over management of the court visitors in guardianship cases from the Office of Public Advocacy (OPA). ACS Administration supports this in concept because court visitors function as the court's independent expert to investigate matters in guardianship cases according to their statutory requirements. We also share OPA's view that there is a perceived conflict of interest because OPA is statutorily required both to represent the respondents and to provide court visitors in these matters and this increment is contingent on a statutory change. However, we are concerned about taking on this responsibility without adequate funding to support paying the contract court visitors, recruiting and training them, and the administrative burden of managing the numerous payments, particularly recognizing the continued upward trend of increasing guardianship case filings. Based on cost information received from OPA and the escalation of the case types for which court visitors are used, the ACS estimates that a permanent, full-time position will be needed to manage this project in addition to funding required to pay the contracted visitors.

The Division of Risk Management within the Department of Administration has advised the court system that its FY22 costs for general liability, workers' compensation, property and other insurance will be reduced by $99,300 over amounts charged in FY21. The court system is submitting a decrement to reflect this reduced cost.
Risk Management savings are the result of an analysis of the past ten years of claims and a 10-year average for anticipated claim costs. Based on this analysis, Risk Management determined that it would self-insure property losses instead of purchasing high excess coverage limits on a short-term basis. This savings is not sustainable in the long-term without an increase to the State Insurance Catastrophe Reserve Account.

The Mental Health Trust Authority has recommended funding to provide additional professional training to existing Therapeutic Court teams (judges, attorneys, project coordinators, clinical case coordinators, etc.) at an identified national conference, in-state training, developed and coordinated by the Court System and/or other training opportunities. The focus of the training will be on the intersection of the criminal justice and community behavioral health systems (mental health and substance abuse), and the use of evidence based practices to improve treatment outcomes, thereby improving public protection through reduced recidivism. The FY2021 Mental Health Trust Authority Authorized Receipt (MHTAAR) increment maintains the FY2020 momentum of effort to perform the aforementioned services.

The Mental Health Trust Authority has recommended funding for a paralegal position to assist with the management, data collection, and tracking of the 3rd Judicial District's Centralized Competency Calendar. The number of Trust beneficiaries charged with a crime where an evaluation for legal competency has been ordered has risen from 2-4 cases/week to 6-12 cases/week. For Trust beneficiaries, this can result in spending increased amounts of time incarcerated and in some cases, more time incarcerated waiting for this legal question to be answered, than if they had just pled guilty and been sentenced from the outset and can also lead to cases being dismissed before they can be prosecuted. This specialized court calendar in Anchorage tracks all 3rd Judicial District criminal cases where the court has ordered a legal competency evaluation, and when appropriate, competency restoration. The management of the Centralized Competency Calendar and the collection, tracking, and reporting of these cases and trends are critical to understanding the reasons for the delays in evaluation and restoration orders, as well as making recommendations for solutions. The calendar will ensure the court system processes these cases efficiently, and in a manner that ensures public protection and keeps Alaskans safe.

The Mental Health Trust Authority has recommended funding for the Juneau Mental Health Court to continue providing a therapeutic court alternative for Trust beneficiaries. The project and its funding will be managed by the court system.

The Juneau Mental Health Court continues to be a critical component of the Trust's effort to promote success and better outcomes for beneficiaries involved with the criminal justice system. The court identifies the underlying reasons for an individual's contact with the criminal justice system, and then develops a court-ordered treatment plan addressing treatment needs which will be monitored by the court. By addressing the individual's underlying cause for contact with the criminal justice system, the risk of recidivism and associated criminal justice system's high costs decreases, thus providing increased public protection to Alaskans as well as improved management of state resources. The FY2021 Mental Health Trust Authority Authorized Receipt (MHTAAR) increment maintains the FY2020 level of funding and momentum of effort.

On January 18, 2021 the Alaska State Legislature Task Force on Therapeutic Courts published its recommendations to improve therapeutic courts in Alaska. This report was received after the court submitted its FY 2022 budget. The task force report included recommendations for three additional personnel: one new prosecutor, one new public defender, and one person to oversee and coordinate peer support groups for the various therapeutic court participants and graduates. The court is amending its budget request to include the cost of the taskforce recommendations (including the cost of the positions plus training and travel).

Even though these personnel will not be court employees, all of the funding tied to therapeutic courts is included in the judiciary's Therapeutic Court Allocation.
