

State of Alaska FY2025 Governor's Operating Budget

Department of Public Safety Alaska Police Standards Council RDU/Component Budget Summary

RDU/Component: Alaska Police Standards Council

Contribution to Department's Mission

To produce and maintain highly trained and positively motivated professional officers, capable of meeting contemporary law enforcement standards of performance.

Results

(Additional performance information is available on the web at <https://omb.alaska.gov/results>.)

Core Services

- Provide academy, in-service, and advanced training for police, corrections, probation, parole, and municipal correctional officers.
- Ensure compliance with Alaska Police Standards Council (APSC) minimum qualification regulations.

Measures by Core Service

(Additional performance information is available on the web at <https://omb.alaska.gov/results>.)

1. Provide academy, in-service, and advanced training for police, corrections, probation, parole, and municipal correctional officers.

2. Ensure compliance with Alaska Police Standards Council (APSC) minimum qualification regulations.

Major Component Accomplishments in 2023

The APSC sponsored 10 recruits for basic academy training. The APSC sponsored 609 officers in 57 training events and delivered 23,206 officer-hours of training in FY2023. The APSC responded to 338 formal records requests and conducted 108 individual training evaluations for officers pursuing reciprocal Alaska police certification. Certifications were issued to 237 officers who met training, education, and experience requirements for basic, intermediate, and advanced certification and over 69 courses and 76 instructors were certified during FY2023.

To resolve regulatory compliance issues, all misconduct or disqualification investigations are completed as soon as possible. Misconduct investigations pertain to alleged wrongdoing by certified officers, whereas disqualification investigations focus on whether there is cause for denying certification to an applicant. When these claims are substantiated, administrative action begins, and can sometimes take several years to resolve. When misconduct is unsubstantiated or determined to be non-disqualifying, the case is closed immediately with no further action taken by APSC. During FY2023, the council opened 44 new misconduct or disqualification investigations or cases and closed 25 cases. Five cases were resolved in FY2023 with a revocation or disqualification action. As of October 27, 2023, APSC had 62 open cases. These cases are in various stages of investigation or administrative action (i.e., pending criminal convictions, discovery, court hearings, council action, and/or superior court appeals). The number of closed investigations reported includes cases that were closed during FY2023, regardless of when they were initiated.

In addition to formal misconduct investigations, the council received 74 formal complaints during FY2023 that did not rise to the level of a formal investigation. These cases were either dismissed as being beyond the authority of the Council, unfounded, or referred to another agency for their investigation prior to any potential council action.

APSC is primarily funded through program receipts from court surcharge fees remitted to the Police Training Fund. Certification fees contribute about two percent each year.

Key Component Challenges

Training opportunities for small police departments in Alaska are provided based on available funding and the number of eligible attendees who can take time away from their duties to attend training. State and municipal agencies continue to have staffing shortfalls and are carrying significant vacancies. This often thwarts efforts for existing staff to attend training, even when the training events are sponsored. APSC continues efforts to focus on developing and providing distance learning and online training events for public safety officers.

Hiring efforts around the state has increased the number of records requests and reciprocity evaluations resulting in frequent backlog and delays in processing time. Successful hires activate the post hire process which has increased workload and processing times. Ongoing regulation projects are similarly delayed as the day-to-day workload takes priority.

The increase of case workload creates a challenge to complete the duties and services mandated by statute. Higher caseloads result in additional expenses for administrative hearings.

Significant Changes in Results to be Delivered in FY2025

APSC remains committed to supporting advanced in-service training for police, corrections, probation and parole officers, and municipal correctional officers. APSC strives to increase regionalized training opportunities to maximize officer attendance from smaller rural agencies in FY2025.

With the return of APSC's ability to provide full training efforts, the focus will include academy, advanced, and in-service programs. After almost a decade without holding an academy, the University of Alaska Fairbanks Community Technical College Basic Police Academy has resumed holding annual academies. This expands basic training opportunities for new hires. Training sponsorship will focus on expanding access to training through development and delivery of distance learning programs and expanding rural officers' access to training. Specific advanced training needs identified by constituent groups include leadership training, field training officer courses, instructor development, advanced investigative and interviewing courses, defensive and de-escalation tactics, crisis intervention, and duty to intervene. APSC will fund and support both academy reimbursements as well as the increase of direct training delivery.

The funding enables the Department of Public Safety and the Alaska Police Standards Council (APSC) to support first responder behavioral health training and programs for APSC-certified municipal and state law enforcement, APSC-certified municipal and state correctional officers, APSC-certified probation officers, and village police officers. This includes, but is not limited, to 40 hours of Crisis Intervention Team training that adheres to the nationally recognized Memphis Model that will provide Alaska's first responders with the tools to best respond to calls for service involving persons with mental and behavioral health issues that may be experiencing a mental health crisis to provide greater public protection and keeps Alaskans safe.

Add full-time Administrative Investigator 1 DPS (12-#171), range 21, located in Juneau, to improve operational capacity.
The Alaska Police Standards Council (APSC) is responsible for maintaining highly trained professional police, corrections, probation, parole, and municipal correctional officers. They sponsor officers in training, respond to records requests, conduct individual training, receive formal complaints, and issue certifications. APSC also conducts misconduct and disqualification investigations as they pertain to wrongdoing by certified officers.
Since 1996, APSC has maintained services and managed workload with four positions including an Executive Director, Administrative Assistant, Administrative Investigator 1 DPS, and a Training Coordinator APSC. In 1996 only four cases were brought to the council for investigation, this increased to five cases in 2011, and 32 cases in 2022. APSC anticipates investigations and complaints to increase with the rollout of body worn cameras.
This request adds needed resources for investigations and hearings and allows opportunities for cases to be heard before the council in a timely manner.
